Paar Quits Show In Dispute Over Deletion of Story

NEW YORK (AP) — Television star Jack Paar, who quit his show Thursday night in anger over censorship of an anecdote on his previous night's show, said today he won't return to it. He said he plans to take a long vacation in Europe.

"I am going to leave the country and go to Europe, maybe to the Mediterranean area where it's warm," Paar said at his home in suburban Bronxville.

"I need a big long rest," he said.

Paar told of his plans in an interview with William Kalna, a reporter for the Yonkers Herald Statesman.

Potters Plan Wage Parley

IBOP Committee to Meet In Cincinnati

Laying the groundwork in advance of negotiations for a new working agreement with management, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters has scheduled a meeting of its Cincinnati and General Welfare Policy Committee to open April 14 in Cincinnati.

The IBOP's current contract with the U. S. Pottery Association was signed last May 8, ending a 23-day strike. It is scheduled to expire next Dec. 1. The union has separate contracts with some chinaware manufacturers which also expire Dec. 1.

The IBOP notified its local unions to elect their representatives to sit on the International Wage Policy Committee. The selections must be made by secret ballot in accordance with a resolution adopted at the last international convention in Montreal in July 1959, it added.

The rule provides that members elected to the wage policy committee must have a record of regular attendance at local union meetings, as defined in the resolution, and that they must continue to attend local meetings regularly during the life of the contract unless excused because of illness, night work or vacation.

Eight local unions already have given notice of plans to elect their representatives on the wage policy committee.

The committee members will present proposals which their local unions feel should be adopted as part of the IBOP's demands upon manufacturers, the union explained.

The meetings will be held at the Netherland Plaza Hotel in Cincinnati. The committee will remain in session daily until its work has been completed, the IBOP said.

Until a few years ago, the IBOP wage conference proposals were worked out at the annual international convention. Then the task was taken over by the wage policy committee, comprised of elected representatives of local unions.

Anywhere from 3,000 to 7,000 dogs—wild ones and pets alike—were shot during the rabies epidemic. At least 135 persons have received anti-rabies treatment.

The diseased dogs began straying across the open U. S.-Mexico border into this rich farming area last fall.

A quarantine covering a 350-square-mile area was not ordered until Dec. 12 but since then all dogs on the loose have been shot on sight.

It has been more than two weeks since a rabid dog was discovered and the county health officer says if the area gets through February without another case, the quarantine will be lifted March 1.

Election Board To Honor Smith At Dinner Tonight

Fellow members of the Columbiana County Election Board will pay tribute tonight to T. Emerson Smith of Salem, who is scheduled to retire Feb. 29 after 8 years' service.

Smith will be guest of honor at a dinner at 6 at the Travelers Hotel in East Liverpool. The former Salem grocer will retire from the board at the end of his second four-term term. Atty. Charles A. Pike of Lisbon has been endorsed by the county Republican executive committee as his successor, subject to appointment by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

At a business meeting, the board will discuss a ballot contract for the May 3 primaries. Two bids were received at a meeting Monday night, but were left unopened while the secretary of state's office worked on revision of both the GOP and the Democratic ballots.

Because of the large number of candidates for delegates to the two parties' national conventions, the ballots would have been too long for most job printers' presses. Brown announced Wednesday he solved the problem by providing for two ballots for each party—one listing convention delegates and the other carrying all other elective offices.

Russia Mightiest Nation, Nikita Tells Indians

400,000 Hear Talk; Khrushchev, Nehru Hold Private Confab

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev declared today that the Soviet Union is the strongest military power in the world but does not wish to take advantage of her superiority.

Speaking from the same stand from which President Eisenhower two months ago defended Western military alliances, Khrushchev said that because of Soviet military strength, the idea of peaceful coexistence is "gaining ground even among advocates of the cold war."

"They have come to understand that if war is unleashed by them, the instigators and inspirers would be the first to perish in its flames," he declared.

400,000 Hear Nikita

An estimated 400,000 Indians heard Khrushchev speak at a civic reception in sprawling Ram Lila Park, between the new and old cities of Delhi. Eisenhower attracted an estimated million spectators to a similar reception for him two months ago in the park.

Earlier today, Khrushchev had met alone with Prime Minister Nehru for nearly three hours during which it was assumed India's border dispute with Red China was discussed. Although many Indians hoped Khrushchev would persuade Red China to pull her troops out of Himalayan territory both nations claim, Nehru was reported to have no such hopes and to doubt that Khrushchev had enough influence with Mao Tse-tung to change the Chinese leader's course.

Khrushchev coupled his attack on "advocates of the cold war" with a new declaration that the Soviet Union is determined to surpass the United States in per capita production within a few years.

"This will enable us to have the highest living standards in the world and at the same time the shortest working day," he said.

"According to all rules of competition we have made our challenge known to the United States."

Nine Airmen Killed In Navy Plane Crash

OAK HARBOR, Wash. (AP) — A Navy seaplane burst into flame, then plunged into Puget Sound 11 miles southwest of here Thursday, carrying nine young airmen to their deaths.

Four bodies were recovered. Navy search crews continued to look for the others.

Bits of wreckage, life rafts and other debris bobbed to the surface during the night. All of the debris was collected in an attempt to determine what caused the explosion and crash.

The plane was on a training mission from the Whidbey Island Naval Air Station.

Sheriff Says Break Near In Coors Case

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — Sheriff Art Wermuth says the time is near for a big break in the strange disappearance of Adolph Coors III, 44, wealthy brewer who may have been kidnapped.

Wermuth and Coors' 76-year-old father, Adolph Coors II, say they believe the missing man is being held by kidnapers.

If there have been ransom demands, the family and officers are keeping them secret. The elder Coors hurried back from a Hawaiian sojourn with the announced purpose of negotiating with kidnapers. "It is just a matter now of waiting for an offer," he said.

"The crucial time in past cases of kidnapping is 36 hours to 4 1/2 days after the abduction is made," Wermuth said.

Coors disappeared Tuesday morning on the way from his home in the mountain foothills to the family brewery at Golden, 12 miles west of Denver.

His station wagon, small bloodstains on the upholstery, was found near a wooden bridge on a country road. There were bloodstains on one of the wooden railings. Coors' cap and eye glasses were nearby.

Dems' Criticism of Defense Policies Ripped by GOP

By The Associated Press

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) heartily commends President Eisenhower's new proposal on banning nuclear weapons tests. But Humphrey adds with obvious relish, "this is exactly the same proposal I made Oct. 30 in Pontiac, Mich."

Humphrey, running hard for the Democratic presidential nomination, spoke Thursday in Long Beach, Calif. Today at San Francisco, he sounded a related theme:

"No problem in the world is more urgent than disarmament. No peace will be reliable until we have solved it."

Eisenhower's Washington statement proposed ending nuclear weapons tests (1) in the atmosphere; (2) in the ocean; (3) in space where controls can be agreed on and (4) below ground if they are big enough to be detected. The President left the way open for a complete ban, even of very small underground tests.

At the same time, Republicans counterattacked against Democratic criticism of administration defense policies.

At Akron, Ohio, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N) said in a Lincoln Day speech:

"Every Democrat with a voice is sending up verbal missiles directed at our defense program—but this cloud of popcorn cannot obscure a truth that Russia appreciates better than anybody: To attempt to destroy America is to invite self-destruction."

Keating added that America's deterrent might will grow under Eisenhower "and under his Republican successor, Dick Nixon."

Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton told a Boston audience the American people trust Eisenhower's judgment on defense and will not be stampeded by what he called panic-button pushers.

Another Democratic hopeful, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) continued to lambaste Eisenhower's years in office: "Eight gray years—years of drift, of falling behind, of postponing decisions and crises" is the way he described it to a Spokane, Wash., meeting.

"As a result," Kennedy added, "I am not a Spokanese."

Residents Save Vital Village Plant

HERKIMER, N.Y. (AP) — The factory whistle sounded a blast of victory and the 9,000 residents of this community rejoiced. They had saved a vital village industry.

Their efforts to raise $150,000—they received pledges and contributions of about $195,000—meant that the Standard Furniture Co. will continue operating, its 300 employees still have their jobs, and they will collect 1 1/4 million dollars a year in wages.

The company makes wooden office furniture. Competition from steel and aluminum rivals hurt. Standard said it lost $57,000 last year but looked forward to a business upswing this year.

Standard said it needed a minimum of $150,000 by midnight Thursday or it would go out of business.

The drive for funds in this Mohawk Valley community, spearheaded by a citizens' committee, began Tuesday. It ended Thursday night, about four hours ahead of the deadline.

Local 3715 of the Carpenters and Joiners Union represents the factory workers. The local pledged $75,000.

Every employee pitched in, too. Some used their savings, others took bank loans and one mortgaged his home to buy $100 company bonds sold in the drive. The bonds mature in five years, at 6 per cent interest.

Samuel D. Earl, company president, described the response as "the most gratifying thing that has ever happened to me. Standard has been a part of Herkimer for 75 years but never so much as it is at this very moment."

Ohio Valley Cities To Fight Gas Boost

The cities affected are East Liverpool, Steubenville, Bellaire, Wellsville, Martins Ferry, Mingo Junction, Toronto and Yorkville.

Craft Crippled, Trapped, Navy Official Claims

U.S., Britain Deny Ownership of Sub First Spotted Jan. 30

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentine warships have crippled a mystery submarine hiding in a southern Argentine gulf and capture of the sub is imminent, Navy Secretary Gaston Clement announced Thursday night.

Government authorities claimed the underwater intruder was successfully trapped after 12 days of hide and seek near the Argentine naval base at the head of Golfo Nuevo, 650 miles southwest of Buenos Aires.

Argentina claims the entire gulf—a 20-by-40-square-mile body of water opening into the South Atlantic—as her territorial water.

Confirms News Reports

Rear Adm. Clement for the first time confirmed newspaper reports that the submarine had been at tacked, both on the surface and under water.

He told newsmen that the sub is forced to come to the surface every 48 hours, showing she had suffered serious damage from depth charges and artillery shells fired by Argentine warships.

Argentine authorities have been silent on the likely identity of the submarine. Both the United States and Britain said none of their submarines are operating in the area.

This is the third foreign submarine scare in Argentine territorial waters within 21 months. The navy announced the other two got away after being detected. Unofficial naval sources said then those two were believed to be Soviet.

Reported Spotting Sub

Three Argentine warships on training duty reported spotting the latest submarine Jan. 30 in the Golfo Nuevo. The warships sealed off the narrow mouth of the gulf to prevent the submarine from escaping into the Atlantic. Additional ships were rushed to the scene.

The Argentine government sent a rush-order to Washington for additional high-powered anti-submarine equipment. The U.S. Navy announced Thursday night that two planes are flying the equipment here by this weekend. It includes depth charges, electronic spare parts, electric testing devices and aircraft flares.

Midwest Mops Up In Wake of Worst Storm

By The Associated Press

Skies cleared and temperatures dropped in the Midwest today as road crews continued clearing snow-covered roads and highways in the wake of winter's worst snowstorm.

Many small towns remained isolated from the storm, which dumped foot-high falls of snow from the Great Plains to Michigan. Travel on some highways in Wisconsin and northwestern Illinois was slowed by stalled cars and snow drifts.

No heavy snowfalls were indicated during the day in most of the country.

However, a snow belt stretching 400 miles was reported in Texas. Only other wet spots were in the central Rockies, which reported snow flurries, and in south central Texas, hit by showers. Skies were clear in the southwest but cloudiness was reported in most other sections of the country.

It was below zero again today in northern Midwest areas, with

Initial Soviet Reaction Negative

Senators Welcome Ike's Nuclear Test Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) said today a nuclear weapons test ban along the lines of the new U.S. proposal should have a good chance to win Senate ratification.

Aiken and several Democratic senators joined in commendation of the proposal, although some said there didn't seem to be much hope it would break the deadlock in the 15-month-old Geneva talks.

Initial Soviet reaction supported that idea.

"Our reaction is negative," Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told newsmen in Geneva.

"These proposals cannot serve as the basis for any sort of agreement."

But U.S. officials expressed hope the Soviet Union would take a more favorable attitude after a thorough study of the proposals. Otherwise, they said, the Geneva negotiations will be threatened with collapse.

Some Democrats in Congress said they had long advocated just such a plan as President Eisenhower announced Thursday.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.),

the Democratic whip, commented that it was "a good way to display bipartisanship" when the administration "takes up recommendations from the Senate."

The proposal, formally presented to the Soviets in Geneva, calls for a ban on all sea and air atomic and hydrogen blasts, as well as large explosions in underground tunnels.

Small underground shots would be permitted initially, but Eisenhower's proposal also left the way open for extending the ban to them. He suggested the agreement could provide for joint East-West experiments to improve detection techniques to the point they could catch even small sneak explosions.

The Soviet Union has held out for a ban on all nuclear tests. The new U.S. offer proposes to ban all that can be detected with certainty.

Aiken, a member of the Foreign Relations and Senate House Atomic Energy committees, said he believed the new proposal, if incorporated in a treaty, would have such strong bipartisan support it would be very likely to win the two-thirds Senate vote needed for approval.

The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union ended nuclear testing Oct. 31, 1958, and have not resumed it although the formal U.S. suspension has expired.

Professor's Home Yields Obscene Items

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Wayne County Prosecutor James K. Leedy said he would file charges today against 64-year-old George W. Bradford, associate professor of English at Wooster College, in whose home policemen and a postal agent found about 200 pounds of material they considered obscene.

Police Chief Kenneth Walters said a search of Bradford's home late Wednesday uncovered photographs, books and exposed film in a steamer trunk. Photographic and lighting equipment, notebooks and equipment for exhibiting film also were in the home, Walters said.

Authorities said the photographs found in the bachelor professor's home, where he lives with a sister, were of nudes of both sexes of various ages.

Walters said Bradford was cooperative during the search. Professor Bradford told officers he is a "student of the arts." He has been at Wooster College almost 40 years.

Bradford, released Thursday on $2,000 cash bond, teaches courses in English literature and linguistics. He is a member of three honorary fraternities and has written poems for poetry magazines as well as a verse collection entitled "Wayside Lyrics."

Postal agent Robert K. Webb of Akron, who obtained the search warrant, said photographs were traced to Bradford through shipping records of Minor Pictures of New York and Ron Pictures of Tucson, Ariz. Source of most of the material is believed to be the Tucson firm, which is under federal indictment for mailing obscene photographs, Webb said.

Dr. Finch Testifies He Would Wed Carole

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Would Dr. R. Bernard Finch marry Carole Tregoff today—if he were free?

Yes, the doctor testified. But when the state asked him if he'd marry the red-haired beauty immediately, he replied: "Sometime in the future."

"Not immediately?" asked Dep. Dist. Atty. Fred N. Whichello. "Not as soon as possible?"

Said Dr. Finch: "Sometime in the future—if Carole will have me."

Tears filled the eyes of the doctor's pretty co-defendant—his mistress since 1957 — as Whichello quizzed Finch about his love for Carole.

Finch, completing his eighth day of testimony Thursday, said he was still very much in love with her.

Finch is 42, Carole 23. Her attorneys refused to let newsmen ask Miss Tregoff if she still loved Finch.

Like Finch, she is charged with murder and conspiracy—accused of slaying the doctor's socialite wife, Barbara Jean, so she couldn't win the doctor's fortune in a divorce settlement.

Development, Local and State-Wide

Ray Lowry, Salem businessman and civic leader who has been named vice chairman of the advisory committee on development publicity for Ohio's new Department of Industrial and Economic Development can be counted on to do a good job to help the state promote its industrial and economic growth.

Mr. Lowry, who already is secretary of the Salem Industrial Development Corporation and was a member of the city planning commission three years, isn't likely to forget Salem when it comes to promoting some of Ohio's more attractive communities.

Gov. DiSalle's appointment of the Salem man to the new state department was a good one.

The Ohio Department of Industrial and Economic Development starts out next week on conducting a series of eight regional meetings throughout the state to acquaint the people with the workings of the new office and to establish working relationships with various communities.

Every town will be asked to fill out a 700-question fact-finding sheet to provide all the answers an industry wants to know about a community before it decides to locate. A complete file on the resources of all towns and cities in Ohio will then be on file at Columbus.

Although the new department is charged with helping promote Ohio's industrial and economic growth, it also was directed by the 103rd General Assembly to focus its attention on other fields such as long-range water planning, atomic energy coordination, education beyond the high school, and the promotion of the Buckeye state's agricultural, historical and cultural opportunities. The 700-question survey covers all these fields.

Salem ought to measure up quite well.

The Odds Were Insuperable

It is in every way desirable that children should continue to learn about the great qualities of Abraham Lincoln.

It is desirable that every American should think with gratitude at least once each year about the qualities of leadership that this humblest and most devout of all presidents showed in the White House. The qualities helped to set the standard of the still evolving function of the presidency in American government.

But neither in the way schools instruct children nor in the eulogizing that adults carry on has there been proper attention for the part that opposition played in the shaping of Lincoln's public character.

It has been remarked often that he emerged from obscurity into the presidency. But it has not been remarked often enough that when he left his obscurity behind him he became the shining target for the cruelest, most slanderous abuse ever heaped on an American president.

AFTER HIS ELECTION by a minority of his fellow countrymen, there was a tense interval while his implacable foes in politics rallied their strength to destroy him when he came to Washington. It was to become a historic question later whether he should have been more afraid of his foes in that interval than of his implacable friends, some of them intent on turning him into a buffoonish figurehead while they ran a political regency.

Lincoln held his tongue and kept his peace. It was to be his reactions from assorted attacks that would constitute his greatness in the White House. The man who did not have respect when he took office was to earn it, syllable by syllable and act by act. He did not know he would succeed. He expected assassination. He was correct in his fear.

His inadequacies and awkwardnesses were painful.

The glib sophisticates who had taken it upon themselves to make him look like a bumbling backwoodsman pounced on every evidence that he never should have been thought of as presidential timber. But gradually the wisdom and the forbearance of the rough-hewn Lincoln began to command respect and the jibes of his critics began to command contempt.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S greatness was fashioned out of adversity. There were no public opinion polls in the 1860s. If there had been, the results would have confirmed what we knew—that his unpopularity was without precedent.

But while he was being reviled he was earning respect for his simplicity of purpose and his flawless integrity. He was forging his stature in history by withstanding senseless attacks that never ceased. He was earning his right to belong to the ages while his critics were earning the right to be forgotten in obscurity.

In an era when to be popular is to be everything, it might be well to teach children how one American earned greatness by being unpopular.

Mitchell Still Has His Project

The circumstances surrounding the end of the steel strike are still being analyzed for clues to future events. But one of the circumstances seemed to have been forgotten until Secretary of Labor Mitchell mentioned it a few days ago.

It had been suggested by President Meany of AFL-CIO that management and union spokesmen should meet one another in a seminar on industrial relations to see if they couldn't get rid of some of the friction that complicates negotiations.

The idea was that the steel strike had been caused in some part by misunderstanding and misinformation; that it had been a disastrous demonstration of what shouldn't be allowed to happen; that the country couldn't afford standoffs of such magnitude.

As it turned out, the settlement of the strike clinched Mr. Meany's point of view. There had been grave misunderstandings and misapprehensions. The steel industry negotiators blundered when they underestimated David MacDonald's leadership. They blundered even more dangerously when they underestimated the impact of the proposal to change local work rules. All the things that were suddenly made plain as the result of a few turkey-talking meetings with Secretary Mitchell and Vice President Nixon could have been made plain long before that if management spokesmen and union spokesmen had been in reaching distance of each other's minds.

Mr. Meany's proposal was approved by President Eisenhower, by Secretary Mitchell and by just about everybody who went through the assorted disenchantments of the steel strike. But then it was heard of no more. It apparently had been dead-ended.

Secretary Mitchell now says it is still alive and will be put into action this spring. He says he thinks the prospects are good and will be even better if management will refrain from letting itself be represented by mouthpieces and will represent itself the only way that makes any sense—by the operating heads of key companies, the men who make decisions and formulate policies.

If they can reach a meeting of minds with bona fide union leaders, the idea is workable.

The U. S. Welfare Bureau claim that lipstick in 17 colors injures health has made the matter a national issue. Our inquiring reporter had street corner interviews with men, married and single, with following results:

Q: Do you think there are poisons in women's lipsticks?

A: It calls for more experimentation and I would like to volunteer for tests.

Q: The government charges that rats have suffered from some more vivid colors. What is your comment?

A: Rats may have trouble, but with wolves it's different.

Q: The secretary of welfare wants some colors banned as especially dangerous to women's health. How about it?

A: Let the government keep out of this situation. Any woman would rather take a chance on harm with her lips rouged than be 100 per cent safe with nothing on them.

Mikoyan visited Cuba to open the Soviet

Trade Fair and gave Uncle Sam "the business." Cuba needs a trade fair like Fidel needs vitamins. And nobody thinks top Soviet traveling salesman, came to Havana for the hotel cut rates. Mikoyan has seen many revolutionists but in Castro he got a closeup of a new model with the cooling system eliminated.

The Soviet trade fair is the same one that came to New York and Mexico. But for Havana, it displayed no shaving cream or razor blade, although it claims Russia originated beard tonics.

Big cities are now having Start-Your-Own Business exposition. New York's lasted five days with attending crowds spurred by every man's dream to get into business for himself. It had everything from hotdog stands and mobile pizza-pie wagons to $150,000 enterprises. But what such a show needs is a department showing how to fill out all the federal questionnaires, decode the tax forms and handle "help" problem.

Any Start-Your-Own-Business exposition should include these features:

1. Instructions on how to meet disdain displayed by the "help" when asked to get in early or work five minutes beyond closing time.

2. Advice on how to soothe nerves when the clerks, salesmen, etc., laugh at appeals for a little extra co-operation in tough going.

3. Counsellors on problem of getting the staff to postpone the coffee break a couple of minutes when waiting on a customer.

4. Guidance for dealing with surprise of the entire staff when a man trying to run a small business decides to close shop and have it soft by going to work for somebody else.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

When everybody was singing the blues over the steel strike there was one voice which kept them all cheery with Irish lullabies, including "Toora-Loora-Loora."

It's not corn to report that it was that Irish voice with its gaiety and charm which skillfully helped bring both sides together in a series of secret meetings which frequently included Richard Nixon and President Eisenhower.

This story—the story of singer Phil Regan and the debt the country owes him—has never been told. Here it is:

Phil Regan, ex-Brooklyn cop, movie star and now public relations spirit for National Distillers, is to the Steel Union chief, Dave McDonald, what Robert Montgomery is to Dwight Eisenhower. It was Regan who was at the Palm Springs airport when the President arrived the other week. Regan drove to the home of his friend, George E. Allen, host to the President.

MEANWHILE, back at Regan's Palm Springs home, McDonald was waiting. Regan returned with his coup. George Allen was to phone. The come-to-breakfast-call came soon.

The next morning, Saturday, Jan.

30, Regan and Allen quietly listened to President Eisenhower tell McDonald, "I hope I'll never see another such strike as long as I live." And McDonald replied, "As long as I live, you never will."

Then the President said, "You people in labor and the men in industry could keep things harmonious if you would fraternize more. Management wants that." McDonald replied, "It's also up to them. I'm ready, willing and able."

There was more, of course, in the man-to-man breakfast coffee klatch. Regan beamed. For him it was the windup of a long experiment in imaginative mediation and personal relations, which is Regan's strength.

He had been in this steel thing, behind the scenes, for more than a year—and not only as the voice of the union's "Men of Steel" radio program.

Actually the trail leads backward from George Allen's Palm Beach home to Allen's tower suite in Manhattan's Hotel New Yorker. Regan got to know Allen when the entertainer sang the "Star Spangled Banner" at Harry Truman's inauguration.

SO CLOSE were Allen, Regan and Truman that the singer was mentioned as the next ambassador to Ireland. Then Eisenhower was elected.

Allen had no difficulty swinging from Truman's kitchen cabinet to Eisenhower's inner circle. And Dick Nixon's, too.

Valentine's Day

By HAL BOYLE

What are you buying your loved one—a cigar that explodes with a bang, or a length of hemp rope tied in a hangman's noose?

There was a time when Valentine's Day was an occasion of sweet remembrance and lovers of all kinds exchanged vows and small tokens of affection. Gifts of candy, wine or a dozen roses lent a sentimental touch.

A boy would save his pennies for days or even weeks to buy his sixth-grade sweetheart or the one he'd like to be his sweetheart—a big lacy valentine resplendent with red ribbons and rosy cupids firing love arrows in all directions. That's all changed now. Valentine's Day is acquiring a vinegar flavor, complete with a dash of hemlock and arsenic.

Yep, it has become a mixture of April Fool's Day, Friday the 13th, and Insult Your Neighbor Day.

Children used to exchange comic penny valentines, or mail them anonymously to a teacher. Now the grownups have taken up that innocent custom and made of it something downright grisly.

The humor often is no longer funny.

You get a greeting card that says, "Do me a favor for Valentine," and when you turn the page you read: "DROP DEAD!"

Wives often complain they are the forgotten people at Valentine. So, mister, if you want to surprise your wife and make a friend of her forever, why not give her a night out on the town? If you broach the subject in the right way, she'll be glad to dig into the family piggy bank and lend you the money.

But you have to be careful. I heard of one thoughtful husband who took his wife out to dinner on Valentine's day. While the waiter was pouring the champagne, the husband noted the bags under his dear mate's eyes.

As he lifted the brimming glass to toast her, he absent-mindedly murmured: "Happy Halloween, old girl!"

THE HALL SYNDICATE

Each time they talked, the President consulted Dick Nixon. Finally the vice president called both sides to his home and laid it on the line.

Then he flew to New York, got into a Secret Service car and was just as blunt with steel management's Big 11. Then Nixon flew to California. There Phil Regan, mellow voice and all, was the conduit.

Nixon talked to Eisenhower, then to Regan. The singer telephoned Dave McDonald long distance. He relayed the messages to Nixon. The vice president phoned the management people. Then it was Nixon to Regan to McDonald.

During this time Regan talked to steel industrialists and bankers—always good humored, always bringing all sides together. Practically a one-man mediation service—or it should be said a national service.

He did well for all concerned—which means the public. Regan is the only one-man crisis crusher we know. Let it be known everywhere.

Then he flew to New York, got into a Secret Service car and was just as blunt with steel management's Big 11. Then Nixon flew to California. There Phil Regan, mellow voice and all, was the conduit.

Nixon talked to Eisenhower, then to Regan. The singer telephoned Dave McDonald long distance. He relayed the messages to Nixon. The vice president phoned the management people. Then it was Nixon to Regan to McDonald.

During this time Regan talked to steel industrialists and bankers—always good humored, always bringing all sides together. Practically a one-man mediation service—or it should be said a national service.

He did well for all concerned—which means the public. Regan is the only one-man crisis crusher we know. Let it be known everywhere.

Misconstrued Words

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Critics Misinterpret President's Statements

Everything President Eisenhower says at a press conference is usually given out afterwards in verbatim form—including even grammatical errors, such as members of Congress always have a chance to correct for the "Congressional Record" after their own public debates.

Yethasty reading by critics in Congress and elsewhere sometimes leads to erroneous interpretations of what the President really said in his impromptu remarks to the press.

Thus, Mr. Eisenhower in a recent press conference was asked a question about the psychological impression created by the way the Soviets "beat us to the moon" and allegedly got ahead of us in other things. He was asked if this would force America into accepting "a posture of 'second-best' in everything or anything."

Mr. Eisenhower replied that "here and there" America might certainly come out "second-best" and he cited the fact that the United States did not win the Olympic Games last time, whereas the Soviets did.

THE PRESIDENT pointed out that the Soviet government takes a good athlete and makes his training a "national responsibility." He then added:

"Now, we have a free enterprise (system); we place above all other values our own individual freedoms and rights and we believe, moreover, that the operation of such a system in the long run produces more, not only more happiness, more satisfaction and pride in our people but also more goods, more wealth."

"Now, let's remember that dictatorships have been very effective. . . . If you take our country and make it an armed camp and regiment it, why, for a while you can—you might do it with great morale, too, if you could get people steamed up like you did in wars; you might do this thing most—well, in very greater tempo than we now are doing it."

"But we are talking of a democracy we hope is an enduring form of government. . . ."

"Now, what we should think about and talk more about in the world are the values we set—on which we do treasure. They (the Soviets) don't have them. . . ."

"Now, I think our people ought to have greater faith in their own system."

The President was here answering a broad question about being "second-best" on trips to the moon, the number of missiles, the training of engineers and economic growth.

He couldn't have been conceding an alleged inferiority in military strength, because he has said repeatedly that our over-all deterrent power is sufficient to prevent the Soviets from attacking us.

He stakes his military judgment and the judgment of his highest military advisers on this statement.

He doesn't think we are "second-best" in defense, and when asked if he doesn't feel that "there is a basic danger of defeatism under the present circumstances," he said flatly: "None in my soul, I'll tell you that."

IT IS A MISCONCEPTION of the President's position to argue that, because he concedes we may be second-best "here and there," he has lost faith in the American system or that he is convinced the United States must be inferior to Russia in military power.

But it is contended that Mr. Eisenhower is not willing to arouse the nation and make the necessary changes in public expenditure so as to put more money into defense and public welfare projects, especially of a social nature. He is criticized for urging a balanced budget.

What is the alternative? To tell the American people that they are in grave danger of attack—which Mr. Eisenhower doesn't believe—and to put into effect stringent controls on wages and prices and over our entire economy, with higher taxes and restrictive measures such as are usually imposed only in wartime?

Anyone who knows American political tides, moreover, can say now that the Democrats would welcome heartily a chance to abandon their current cries about the "missile gap" in order to make political capital out of the argument that the Republicans want to lead us into a war just when Khrushchev, with his "summit conference" concept, is trying to prevent war.

MR. EISENHOWER cannot possibly repeat at each press conference every argument on a particular subject he has made in the past. Take, for instance, his crusade for a nuclear test ban.

He has given plenty of reasons at past press conferences for his continued interest in negotiating an agreement with the Russians. But when he now adds the financial reason—a possible saving on armament expense, which is supposed to be influential in the minds of people not only in this country but abroad—he is promptly accused of thinking only of money savings.

The record of Dwight Eisenhower in working for peace has been replete with so many references to humanitarian reasons for seeking a disarmament agreement that it is surprising to read now that all the President can think about is money savings and a balanced budget.

Even such a reason is not so materialistic as it sounds. Anyone who saw the terrible privation of the people of Germany arising out of fiscal mismanagement—which led to the Hitler dictatorship in the 1930s—can hardly say that an effort to avoid national bankruptcy is just an aberration of the materialistic mind.

Memo to Sylvia

By TRUMAN TWILL

A lady who writes about business problems so glibly and clearly that even I have the illusion of being hep to what's going on said the other day that February is such a gum month that even business optimists begin to look with suspicion at their bushy tails.

Sylvia Porter says this is an economic pitfall. Businessmen who must guess which way the cat is going to jump look at this miserable, scrawny refugee from the alleys in February and doubt if it has strength enough to jump either way.

But come better weather and the cat will fatten up on spring mice—and woe to the glumster who gave up on it in February.

This kind of straight talk from an expert who gets around the county and knows what the hard-headed practicalists of business are really up against is heartening for an ivory tower observer. It confirms what has seemed to me to be obvious for a long time—that psychology has even more to do with business conditions than gross national product and the ups and downs of freight car loadings.

I always have felt sure the figure economists used to impress patrons and customers were approximate reflections of what had happened a long time before; that the only way to know what is happening now or is likely to happen in the next six months is to go ask the man who owns the dog.

If he is going for pups, instead of getting ready to butcher the mutt, chances are that business will be good. But if he has tired of the dog, the dog has tired of him and their sour mood is spreading, look out.

There is no such thing as economic determinism and Marx would have been better off to have studied the violin.

It has been demonstrated endlessly that people grind along for a long time in a certain frame of mind, taking the bitter with the sweet, then one day the psychological barometer goes haywire.

Compliance turns to contrariness.

Agreeableness turns to anger. Everybody kicks over the traces and in the ensuing chaos innocent people who had wanted the world to be tied up in a blue ribbon permanently, with their name on the ribbon sob out their suffering as if they had endured a great wrong.

I do not believe this can be prevented.

It is important when a columnist who specializes in economics says February is a tricky month when "pessimists are helped by nature itself." I am glad someone agrees with me that business moods can be generated from the inside out and thereafter are able to feed on themselves as statistics reflect what already has turned sour.

I think it behooves all people with big loud mouths to be careful what comes out of their fat bazoos, especially when they are tempted to call attention to themselves by making headlines with prophecies of doom in February.

People are ready to believe the worst.

Once they have broken and run for the hills, they aren't likely to come back to the valley until the grass is green. And when they do come back, they are likely to be just as impetuous as they were when they fled. People can get hurt in a boom as well as in a bust.

They never know why they ran thataway and they never know why they decided to run thisaway. They heard something or saw something and ran. That's how it always seemed to me, and it's nice to be reassured that the seasonal phenomenon of the February doldrums is as well known in big business as it is in the little business of hanging on until, meteorologically speaking, things pick up.

The Insurance Industry Growth It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE

You've heard it said that New York is the finance center of the world.

But it is not just a town of banks, stock and commodity exchanges and foreign trade. It is headquarters, too, for the insurance business, a multibillion dollar industry. Well over three-quarters of the insurance coverage of the nation in both life and property lines is based in New York.

These facts came to light as the New York Insurance Department celebrated its centennial. Many statutes in other states are patterned after the rates of the New York department.

Insurance companies are under close watch so that all times your claims can be met. Certain types of insurance coverage are guaranteed by law in the event that an insurance company becomes insolvent.

SECURITY FUNDS have been set up to guarantee payments of workmen's compensation and automobile liability claims. Certain life and annuity policies also come under these guarantees. The fair treatment of claimants is carefully supervised as is the industry's rate structure and the licensing of agents. Highly regulated also are employee welfare funds established or maintained jointly by labor and employer representatives.

You may think of insurance as a stodgy business, one that gains only as the population grows. Nothing could be further from the truth. The industry does not attribute its sixfold gain in the past century to the increasing number of people.

Its growth has been due, in great measure, to the vast changes in our economy which have produced huge insurable property values, vast increases in corporate and personal incomes and more widespread understanding of, and demand for, security against loss.

About half of the insurance business done today is for insurance in areas unknown in 1860.

THERE ARE OTHER facets to this story. The premium money that companies collect has in a large measure contributed to the construction of these huge property values, have allowed companies and people to make more money TIMELY, TOO — A St. Louis, Mo., hat company is featuring this item as summer beach wear for the ladies. In keeping with the times, it is shaped like an atomic mushroom. Eye shield protects against sun and atomic flash, the maker says. Top of the hat serves as a carry-all for comb, cigarettes, compact et al.

by the new and better job opportunities they have created. Of the 112.9 billion dollars invested just by life companies today, close to 24 billion is invested in the bonds of industrial companies, another 15.6 billion in public utility companies and 20.3 billion provides the money for conventional home mortgages.

The insurance company is anything but static. Perhaps the slowest moving segment of it is you.

I suspect, once you have bought insurance, whether on your life, your home, your car or your health you are inclined to forget about it. You simply pay your premiums and relax.

This is wrong. Year by year there are changes in your life and these changes should be related to your insurance program. Perhaps your insurance load is heavier than need be and duplicate protection offered you by your employer. Perhaps you are under insured because your family is larger, your property and possessions have increased in value. Perhaps your insurance dollars could be better spent because of the newer types of coverage offered.

How long has it been since you reviewed these factors?

4 Admit Dynamiting Newspaper Trucks

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Eleven days after a series of blasts ripped 10 trucks used by struck Portland newspapers, police had statements admitting the act from four of seven persons in custody.

Sheriff Francis Lambert said four young men admitted setting off the two blasts and Gerald Couzens, one of them, said Stereo## typers Union official paid them $400 for the two jobs.

Couzens, 20, was quoted by an arresting detective as saying L. S. McDonald, a member of the Stereotypers Union negotiating committee, paid them after the 10 trucks were dynamited. McDonald was quoted by detectives in on the arrest as saying he did not make the payoff.

Lambert said others in custody in addition to Couzens and McDonald are three Snyder brothers — Charles, 23; William, 18; and

Eddy, 24 — and the wives of Charles and Eddy. Charles and his wife live in Boring, Ore., and the rest in Portland.

The sheriff said none except McDonald is a member of any of the unions involved in the strike against the Oregonian and Oregon Journal.

The strike began Nov. 10 when the stereotypers walked out and other union members observed picket lines. The newspapers have published jointly in the Oregonian plant since the strike started.

Housewives Hunt Food In Washington Supermarket Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—With six chains of supermarkets closed by a strike, Washington area housewives cast about in somewhat frantic fashion today to lay in weekend food supplies.

Small independent neighborhood groceries have been jammed. A few adventurous souls commuted out to towns beyond the 25-mile radius affected by the shutdown so they could shop as usual in a supermarket. Others relied on canned goods. Home freezers came into their own.

The strike came with no warning early Wednesday morning, when members of Meatcutters Local 555 voted to strike the A&P, Acme, Safeway, Food Lane and Grain Union chains. A sixth chain, Giant, joined the others in shutting down although not directly affected by the dispute with Local 555. Together, the six chains had sold three quarters of all food supplies in the Washington area.

A federal mediator spent most of Thursday trying to get management and union representatives to sit down together at a conference table. In late afternoon they did, but apparently made little or no progress.

The Beaver Local wrestling team will enter the Kent State district tournament next Friday and Saturday.

Might

"We told them 'Let us compete in the peaceful development of economy and not in the production of armaments.'"

"Our peoples, our countries and the peoples of the entire world will benefit from that. We are not afraid of that competition and we are confident we shall win."

After their long talk, Khrushchev and Nehru watched the signing of an agreement under which the Soviet Union will lend the equivalent of 378 million dollars for India's 21-billion-dollar, third five-year plan, which begins in 1961. The agreement sealed a promise made by the Soviets last summer.

Nehru in a subsequent appearance before Parliament gave no indication that Khrushchev had given him any encouragement on the border issue. He emphasized India's desire for a friendly settlement with Red China but said, "I see no ground whatever" for a settlement now.

There is no common ground between the Indian and Chinese positions, said Nehru. He added there is "nothing to negotiate at present."

NEW YORK (AP) — Crime in New York City rose 1.8 per cent last year for the sixth straight annual increase. Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy said in his annual report Thursday that arrests were up 1.2 per cent and felonies rose 4.8 per cent. However, there was a 4.9 per cent decrease in arrests of persons under 16, the first time since 1955 that a drop occurred in that category.

seemed tired and dispirited. It was anybody's guess whether he was dispirited or whether he was just tired.

"There is some advantage from the Communist point of view to blow hot and cold simultaneously on any given issue," an American observer commented.

Most observers place little stock in the theory that a discrepancy between the current Soviet and Chinese attitudes toward peaceful coexistence with the West is all part of a devious Communist plot. If this hot-and-cold tactic had been planned beforehand by Peiping and Moscow, they say, Khrushchev would have read his lines better in his speeches here.

The Indian government and responsible newspapers in New Delhi have been trying hard to dampen popular Indian hopes that Khrushchev has a miracle solution to the border dispute in his luggage.

YOUTH IS ACQUITTED OF CAR THEFT CHARGE

LISBON — David Randolph, 19, of East Liverpool was acquitted of a charge of auto theft Thursday by a Common Pleas Court jury.

Frank Yanico, Alliance machine operator, told the jury he met a John Hull and Randolph in an East Liverpool tavern last August. He said he loaned them his car at Hull's request and they were to pick him up a couple of hours later. They didn't return the car which was found abandoned in Nevada 10 days later.

Hull is still at large. Randolph testified that Hull borrowed the car and he went along just for the ride. He said he fell asleep and woke up in strange country. He admitted driving the car "somewhere out in the West."

The jury took the case at 1:30 p. m., returned about 3:30 to have a portion of testimony read, and brought in a verdict shortly after 4.

-11 at Grand Forks, N.D., one of the lowest readings.

Colder weather moved into the Atlantic Coast states after Thursday's unseasonably high temperatures. The mercury climbed to 66 in Newark, N.J., a record for Feb. 11, as was the 57 in Windsor Locks, Conn. It was 66 in Baltimore and 56 in Boston. New York's mild 60-plus readings were marred by wind gusts up to 60 m.p.h.

Trudeau's answer was "yes," the warhead could be neutralized through the employment of the neutron flux principle.

In an atomic explosion used to trigger a thermonuclear explosion there is an abrupt and staggering release of neutrons which bump into each other, setting up a chain reaction. This reaction releases an enormous amount of heat and energy.

To use the flux principle, some means must be found to dampen, or decrease, the release of neutrons in the enemy's warhead.

How this is done through the explosion of a small atomic bomb in the Nike-Zeus is, of course, still a top secret. There was no indication whether it has been proved by any tests.

IN TROUBLE — Jose Maria Lemus, president of small, densely populated El Salvador, is threatened with rising communism. The country's antiquated political and social system has hobbled Lemus' attempts to put liberalism into the conservative government.

General's Slip Gives Inkling of Top Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—A three-star general's apparent slip of the tongue has disclosed that a small atomic explosion can be used to neutralize thermonuclear warheads on ballistic missiles.

Involved in the process is the principle of neutron flux, but the details of the technique are classified top secret. Even after it was mentioned publicly, research officers declined to say anything about it.

Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, the Army's chief of research, made the disclosure Thursday during a movie-news conference on development of the antimissile missile, Nike-Zeus.

At this same movie-with-questions conference, the Army also exhibited a one-minute film clip showing the first known interception of a ballistic missile by a guided missile.

The film showed a Hawk anti-aircraft missile, which carried a conventional high explosive warhead, shooting down a short-range bombardment rocket called the Honest John. The test was made Jan. 29 over White Sands, N.M. They collided at a combined impact speed of about 2,000 miles an hour.

Since the script with the Nike-Zeus film carefully refrained from saying a direct hit was necessary to destroy the warhead of an incoming missile, Trudeau was asked if this didn't imply a means had been found to render the warhead harmless.

Trudeau's answer was "yes," the warhead could be neutralized through the employment of the neutron flux principle.

Stepinac Burial Scheduled In Cathedral

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — The Yugoslav government reversed itself today and authorized the burial of Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac in the Roman Catholic cathedral here.

The government previously had requested church authorities to bury the prelate, who died Wednesday, at his native village of Krasic, 40 miles west of this Croatian capital, where he had been a paroled prisoner of the Communists for the last nine years.

The earlier restriction to Krasic was widely regarded as due to government fear of possible demonstrations.

Cardinal Stepinac, spiritual leader of Yugoslavia's seven million Catholics, was convicted by a Communist court in 1946 on charges of wartime collaboration with the Nazis, and was sentenced to 16 years imprisonment. He was paroled to his native village in 1951.

Instead of being held at Krasic's 400-year-old village church, the funeral will be in the 17th century cathedral in Zagreb. Church authorities will issue permits for attendance.

Cardinal Stepinac was archbishop of Zagreb at the time of his arrest. President Tito's regime, in paroling him to Krasic in 1951 and limiting him to the duties of a village priest termed him a "former archbishop." The Vatican regarded him as retaining full rank.

Zagreb is the capital of Croatia, predominantly Roman Catholic. Archbishops of Zagreb traditionally are buried in the cathedral.

The government's decision to permit the burial there was viewed by foreign observers as a new contribution toward a trend for improvement in church-state relations noted since last fall.

Motorist, 20, Jailed On Intoxication Count

A 20-year-old Mt. Vernon youth is in city jail today serving a three-day sentence on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was also ordered to pay a fine of $160.60 and costs by Mayor Dean Cranmer.

Police report the youth, James Denzil Teeter, was observed at E. State and Union Ave. in a car with only one headlight. Officers signaled him to the curb with the intention of notifying him to get the light fixed.

Teeter then admitted that he had struck a utility pole on E. State St. in the 1700 block. A check at the scene turned up the headlight rim from Teeter's car and also showed that the pole might have been broken off below ground level.

In a second minor accident, two cars were slightly damaged at 4:50 p. m. Thursday when Lucy A. Provins, 24, of 239 W. State St., backed her vehicle from a parking place into a second car waiting to pull into a parking place. The second car was driven by Dr. Ralph B. Vance, 48, of 207 W. 16th St. The accident occurred on E. State St. near Ellsworth.

The locals also were advised to elect delegates to represent them at the annual meeting. The convention site was picked by delegates to the 1959 session, which was held in Montreal, Canada.

Five New TB Cases Reported In County

LISBON — Five new cases of tuberculosis were reported to the State Health Department during January by the Columbiana County Tuberculosis Control Clinic.

The board of trustees' monthly report issued Thursday lists two deaths from TB, two patients admitted to sanatoriums and three patients discharged from sanatoriums.

Staff nurses made 236 home visits to patients receiving treatment, and 137 chest X-rays were taken at the clinic in the Court-house. Twelve consultations were held with Dr. F. G. Kravac, director, concerning patients.

The clinic is financed by a countywide TB levy.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I am new in this country (three years) and I see it is a popular American custom to write personal opinions, complaints and observations to your corner.

Perhaps you can tell me why your country, which considers itself superior in every way, has such poor cultural standards.

I am offended at the junk which hangs in American theater lobbies, night clubs and cocktail lounges. The frames are far more valuable than the prints and oils.

Perhaps this is why America is developing a generation of sterile, insensitive, rock 'n' roll maniacs. You are surrounded by mediocrity and fourth-rate influences.

This goes for your popular literature, too. The people who read your column are no doubt the lower level or average mentalities, so perhaps I have come to the wrong place for an answer. — GENTLEMAN OBSERVER.

Dear Gentleman Observer: Thank you for honoring our little old average mentalities by tossing a few pearls our way. Most people who write to this column say they read it because they enjoy it. What's your excuse?

Strange that a gentleman who is simply crawling with culture should be looking for the better things in theater lobbies, night clubs and cocktail lounges. Ever hear of an art gallery or a museum?

I, for one, am bored with the attacks and subtle needling of newcomers who came to our country to escape tyranny and persecution. They avail themselves of the multiplicity of opportunities this young country offers. Then they criticize us because we are "uncultured barbarians."

Trains, planes and ships leave every day.

Like Father, Like Son

Dear Ann: Our 17-year-old son lied to us. We let him have the car every Friday or Saturday night and he tells us in advance where he's going.

Saturday night he said he and a buddy were double-dating and going to a movie, then to a snack bar where the kids hang out. The following morning I checked the mileage on the car. It showed they had traveled 38 miles.

I used to pull this same stuff when I was a kid, till my old man got wise. What should we do? — DAD.

Dear Dad: It takes one to catch one, eh? Well — tell your son you know he lied. Deprive him of the car for two weeks. Make it plain that in the future you want the straight goods. Don't tell him how you learned the truth. Let him sweat. Macy's doesn't tell Gimbel's.

Dancing Wife

Dear Ann: We've been married four months and already we're having trouble.

My wife and I both work in the same night club. I'm a chef and she's a receptionist. She loves to dance and is good at it. They have a great swing band at the club and my wife spends half her time in the arms of traveling salesmen. You'd think she was a 10-cent-a-dance girl.

The owner says it's good for business but I don't like the idea. She was hired to seat customers, not dance with the men. We can't make it on just my check as we have new furniture and a car to pay out. What's your advice? — AMBY.

Dear Amby: Your wife should quit this job and find employment which involves less intimate contact with male customers.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Doctors Get to Foot of Ringworm

I've often been embarrassed when I was called on to prescribe for a patient with ringworm.

The cause for my embarrassment was a persistent fungus between the fourth and fifth toes of both my own feet!

Dr. H. T. Hyman

The infected area would clear after a few days. I'd discontinue treatment, and then, after another few days, the cat would come back.

I COULDN'T FIGURE out why these fungicides failed to work when they worked so well under laboratory conditions.

Nor could I understand why the infection never spread beyond those pesky fourth and fifth toes. I suspected that others must have shared my confusion, for new preparations came on the market with regularity.

And experience led me to believe that where there are many preparations for the same complaint, it's a safe bet that no one of them is satisfactory.

THANKS TO two recent contributions to our knowledge, my confusion has ended and with it has gone my embarrassment.

The first, reported by Dr. Rudolph Baer and his associates, deals with the experiences of 30 volunteers who permitted their feet to soak for a half hour in water heavily contaminated with ringworm fungus.

When not one of these hardy volunteers showed any evidence of skin inflammation, Dr. Baer ventured the following conclusions:

1. Exposure to the fungus is of minor importance in the development of ringworm.

2. The determining factor in the production of infection is a state of lowered local resistance, presumably caused by such factors as the moisture and peeling when the skin surfaces rub together.

ON THE BASIS OF Dr. Baer's experiments, Dr. Marion Sulzberger expressed the opinion, in the Journal of Investigative Dermatology, that efforts to prevent fungus infections by wading pools, dusting powders and the like were "largely useless."

He suggested that many time-honored remedies, particularly those that caused irritation and peeling, did more harm than good. Just when the outlook for curing ringworm seemed darkest, the second contribution came along to brighten the whole picture.

WITH THE introduction of two effective fungicides (marketed as

The Kentucky Fried Chicken

Grifulvin and Fulvicin and available ONLY on doctor's prescription, it has become possible to obtain true cures within days to weeks.

Local treatment, other than cleanliness and prevention of the accumulation of moisture by use of a simple cream, is quite unnecessary.

Now I could prescribe for my patients without embarrassment and with feet bared!

ATTRACTS NEW INDUSTRY

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle praised nearby Byesville Thursday night for attracting industry to its area. A new plastics plant is under construction there and the city is building a second water treatment plant.

DiSalle told the community's board of trade at its annual banquet that Ohio's population will increase 30 per cent in the next 10 years. He said funds for conservancy lakes in Scioto, Belmont, Noble and Guernsey counties have been appropriated to attract more persons.

Class AA Sectional Tourney Drawings Scheduled Monday

16 Teams to Vie At Youngstown

Tournament To Get Under Way Feb. 25

By DICK BRAUTIGAM
Coach John Cabas will go to Youngstown South High School on Monday to take part in the drawings for the Youngstown sectional basketball tournament which is slated to get underway Feb. 25. A total of 16 area Class AA teams will open their tournament trail at Youngstown. Besides Salem they are Girard, Leavittsburg, Newton Falls, Cortland, Niles, Warren, Lisbon, Champion, Howland, Youngstown, Canby, East, Fitch, North, Rayen and South.

Two winners in the Youngstown sectional tournament will compete with two winners from the Struthers sectional in the district meet at Youngstown on March 10, 11 and 12.

TO REACH the district tournament, Salem will need to win three games in the sectional. Dates for the sectional are Feb. 25, 26, 27 and March 3, 4, 5.

The two schools from Struthers who will advance to the Youngstown district tourney will come from this list: Brookfield, Campbell Memorial, Canfield, East Palestine, Hubbard, Beaver Local, Poland, Struthers, United, Columbiana, Youngstown Wilson, Ursuline, Cardinal Mooney, Boardman and Liberty. Drawings for the Struthers sectional will also be held on Monday night.

If form holds up, the teams given the best chance to advance to the Youngstown district tourney are Salem, Youngstown East, Hubbard and Youngstown Wilson. Two wins in the district tournament will advance a team to the regionals.

THERE WILL be four regional tournaments in the state, with four teams in each. Regional tournaments will be played at Kent State University, Toledo University, Columbus Fairgrounds Coliseum and Cincinnati Gardens.

Salem, of course, will play at Kent if it survives the three sectional and two district games. The three other teams at Kent will be district winners from Eastlake, Bedford and Kent.

From the Eastlake district will probably come Cleveland East Tech or Cuyahoga Falls will probably come from Kent. The Salem Quakers should make it from Youngstown.

ONE WINNER from each of the four regionals will advance to Columbus for the state tournament on March 25, and 26.

If Ohio's sports writers and radio men have the schools dotted out correctly in the Associated Press Poll, here are the teams each region should send to Columbus for the state finals:

Kent: Cleveland East Tech or Salem.

Columbus: Canton Timken, Marietta or Portsmouth.

Cincinnati: Dayton Roosevelt or Xenia.

Toledo: Lakewood or Toledo Scott.

The favorite to win the tournament: no one; the odds against any school are too great.

Ohio Woman Golfer Reaches Semifinals

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Barbara Fitton, Hamilton, Ohio, and Burt Resnick, New Haven, Conn., advanced into today's semifinals of the National Mixed Foursomes golf tournament by defeating Lew Keller, Palm Beach, and Mrs. James Lee, Coral Gables, Fla., 1 up on 19 holes, Thursday.

Mrs. Fitton, girls' gym instructor at a Hamilton junior high school, sank a 20-foot putt for a birdie to win the match on the extra hole.

She and Resnick next meet Bob Gardner, New York City, and Pat Tiernan, Manhasset, N. Y., who Thursday ousted Bob Cochran, St. Louis, and Barbara MacIntire, Lake Park, Ill., 1 up.

Krichbaum Has 3rd Best Field Goal Mark

Hunter Closing In On Theiss For Lead In Shooting Accuracy

Guard Dave Hunter, who already has a commanding lead in the scoring department, is rapidly closing in on center Eric Theiss for team honors in shooting accuracy among the regulars on Salem High's varsity cage squad.

Theiss holds a 52.0 field goal percentage compared to Hunter's 51.8 mark. From the free throw line Theiss is shooting a hot 80 per cent while Hunter is moving along at a 75.5 clip.

Hunter has taken more than three times as many shots as Theiss and has made more than three times as many points.

DAN KRICHBAUM'S 46.5 average is the third best field goal mark among the regulars. Krichbaum's all-around hustle and 100 per cent effort in every game have frequently meant the difference between a tight battle and a runaway victory for the Quakers.

After Krichbaum, probably the next best defensive performer on the team is Jim Solmen. The 6-2 senior also can more than hold his own offensively. Together with Don Davidson, Jim Lehwald and Theiss, he gives the Quakers good height under the boards.

Despite the numerous lopsided scores the Quakers have run up this season, several of the reserve players have not been getting as much varsity experience as Coach Cabas would like.

HIGH SCHOOL cagers are limited to 18 games a season, excluding tournament competition. If a boy gets in four quarters of a reserve game, an appearance with the varsity the same night would count as two of his allotted 18 games for the season.

That's why sophomore Ted Thorne didn't get in either game against Boardman on Tuesday and why Ron Janovec, Fred Harshman and Bob Eskay were held out of the varsity tilt.

The Quakers will take a 14-1 record into their last road game of the regular season tonight at Akron St. Vincent. Salem is averaging 72.8 points per game and hitting on an average of 45.7 per cent of their shots from the field.

Cubs' Grimm Has Hopeful Eye On First Division This Year

ROBERTSVILLE, Mo. (AP)—I definitely believe that the Chicago Cubs will crash the first division, and if everything should break right for us, we could take it all. Yes, we can win the pennant, if we could flatten the also-rans a little oftener and then do as well against the other contenders, why couldn't we be up there?

I am very satisfied with the deals made this winter. We had a very poor defensive outfield in 1959. In getting Richie Ashburn and Frank Thomas we have helped in both the offensive and defensive departments. Ashburn is a good leadoff man who gets on base often and Thomas, a power hitter, will team up well with Ernie Banks in the long ball department.

With Ashburn and Tony Taylor leading off the batting order for us, we'll have a couple of pests, get-on-base speed boys up there and we'll have some power behind them.

With George Altman, Banks and Thomas following them, Ashburn and Taylor will make it all the way home a lot faster.

Our infield, except for third base, is pretty well set. We have Dale Long and Dick Gernert at first. The departure of Alvin Dark leaves third base wide open. We might shift Taylor to third and play young Jerry Kindall at second. There's also the possibility that Earl Averill, who swings a big bat, can make it defensively at third.

If there is any department on the club that needs strengthening it would be a top starting pitcher. Potentially we have a fine staff but it could use more experience. Bob Anderson, Moe Drabowsky, Dick Drott and Glen Hobbie are all barely past voting age. Art Ceccarelli and Seth Morehead should take care of the left-handed end. Dick Ellsworth, a newcomer, looks good to me. So do several other young pitchers up from the minors. Don Elston and Al Schroll should be able to handle the bullpen.

"I'm not concerned at all about the catching. Cal Neeman and Sammy Taylor did well last year and should do even better this year."

St. John's Nips W. Virginia

North Carolina, Miami Also Upset

By The Associated Press
A few weeks ago, Coach Joe Lapchick of St. John's warned future opponents not to take his New York Redmen too lightly despite their slow start. Today, the West Virginia Mountaineers realize Lapchick knew what he was talking about.

Thursday night, the New York club knocked off the fifth-ranked Mountaineers 79-73 for its seventh straight triumph. The victory came after New York University defeated Manhattan 75-74 in the opener of the Madison Square Garden doubleheader. That game erupted into a melee near the end when NYU's Tom Sanders and Manhattan's Charley Koenig squared off in a fist fight.

Neither was it a particularly good night for two other teams ranked among the first 20. Miami of Florida, No. 10, was upset by Stetson 73-72 and North Carolina, No. 13, was tripped up by Wake Forest 80-69. Eight-ranked Villanova, however, rode over Pittsburgh 76-49.

Jerry West, West Virginia's All America, gave a great performance against St. John's as he scored 32 points, but his individual efforts were not enough to offset the all-around fine play of the Redmen. St. John's attack was paced by Tony Jackson with 20 points. The setback was West Virginia's third in 22 games. St. John's is 13-5.

Jon and Jeff Feldman, George Washington's pint-sized twins, scored 40 points between them as the Colonials whipped Virginia Military Institute 95-78. Jon had 25 points.

Guy Lombardo To Try for Boat Mark

CHICAGO (AP)—The first couple of hundred miles an hour are the hardest when you're shooting for a world water speed record.

This is the word from band leader-boatman Guy Lombardo, who is collaborating in an American effort this year to shatter Britisher Don Campbell's world mark of 260.35 m.p.h.

"You wouldn't believe the complications getting our jet job up near its potential," Lombardo said today at the Chicago National Boat Show.

"At 80-90 miles an hour, we couldn't get the nose up with full thrust. We got fumes in the cockpit at 140. At 200, we had to get a special helmet for the driver, so he could see. And over 200, we needed a custom-made speedometer."

Lombardo said the turbojet-engine boat, Tempo Alcoa, probably will take a crack at Campbell's speed record in mid-May in Pyramid Lake, 30 miles northeast of Reno, Nev.

The Tempo, a 4,000 horsepower demon, likely will be driven by Les Staundacher, designer-builder, with whom Lombardo has teamed to challenge Campbell's feat.

In tests, the Tempo has hit at least 260 m.p.h. "We don't know how much faster, because that was the top of our speedometer," said Lombardo, three times national speed champion.

The world record attempt will be made over a seven-mile course. The Tempo, on display at the boat show, has been gauged by aeronautical experts of being capable of surpassing 320 m.p.h. without flipping.

High Jumper Seeks To Snap Own Mark

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John Thomas, Boston University's sensational high jumper, hopes to smash his own record of 7 feet, 1 1/2 inches tonight in the Philadelphia Inquirer Games at Convention Hall.

Other features of the indoor track and field meet expected to draw some 10,000 fans include a record breaking effort by pole vaulter Don Bragg, Laszlo Tabari in the mile and Villanova runners shooting at a double in relay events.

Thomas, 18-year-old B. U. sophomore, competes against Sweden's Stig Peterson, Floyd Smith of the Chicago Track Club, Herman Wyatt from Santa Clara and Mike Herman of the New York Pioneer Club. He figures to win the high jump but the big question is, how high can he go?

Boston U. coaches claim that only a "sagging bar" kept their protegee from clearing 7-2 at Boston last week. Coach Doug Raymond, says, "The bar sagged almost three inches. John's feet were going over at 7-5 and his torso at 7-2 1/2." Promised there would be no sagging bar, Raymond intimated he wouldn't be at all surprised if Thomas writes a new mark on the books tonight.

5 STROKES OFF PACE

PANAMA (AP)—Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Athens, Ohio, scored 34-35—69, five strokes off the pace, in the opening round of the $10,000 Panama Open Golf Championship Thursday.

Reilly Wins First Round Cage Title

Unbeaten Reilly knocked off Prospect 33-10 this week to capture the first round title in the Mickey McGuire League grade school basketball program.

McKinley took over second place with a 22-14 breeze over Fourth Street. In a battle of the winless, St. Paul Squeezed past Buckeye 18-15.

Elementary school principals decided in a meeting Thursday that rules will be changed to allow unlimited substitution during the second round which gets underway on Monday. During the first round no player was allowed to participate in more than two quarters per game.

The Mickey McGuire League plays five minute quarters.

Leading scorer this week was B Whitman of Reilly. Whitman hooped 11 points in his team's win over Prospect. Joe Rottenborn of St. Paul was close behind with 10 markers against Buckeye.

Whitman actually tallied 13 points in Reilly's game with Prospect. The junior sized athlete got headed the wrong way and flipped in two points for the wrong team. He quickly recovered and explained his actions to Coach John Baker with the comment, "I thought they needed them." These were the only two points Prospect was able to put on the scoreboard in the first half.

Post Office Trims Eljer Enamel 3-0

Post Office took over second place in the Adult Volley Ball League last night by trimming Eljer Enamel in three straight games at the Memorial Building. In a second contest, Deming Colwalped the Electric Furnace, also by three straight.

The Post Office's three victories were enough to lift it above the idle Sekely Industrial. Post Office now has a record of 12-3 while Sekely is 11-4. Deming is holding down fourth place with 10-5, Eljer is in fifth with a 5-10 and Electric Furnace at the bottom, 4-11.

Kiwanis, also idle last night, holds down the top spot with a lustrous 933 percentage, winning 14 of 15 contests.

Iowa to Invade OSU Saturday

Ohio Has 3-Game Lead In Big Ten

By The Associated Press
Iowa, loser of its last three Big Ten starts to skid to a 4-4 record, will try to recoup Saturday at Columbus against the unbeaten conference basketball leader, Ohio State.

With the Buckeyes seeking their ninth straight Big Ten victory, the game stands out in a full round of conference activity.

Northwestern (4-4) is at Michigan (0-7) for an afternoon regional television affair. Michigan State (5-4) is at Minnesota (5-4), Purdue (5-3) at Illinois (4-3) and Wisconsin (0-7) at Indiana (4-3).

Because the Buckeyes hold a three-game lead in the title rush, the battle for second place has added interest. Purdue, topped by the circuit's No. 1 scorer, Terry Dischinger, with a 28.1 average, will try to hang on to second in an afternoon game at Illinois. The Illini downed the Boiler-makers 81-75 in their first meeting.

Victories by Illinois and Indiana would put the Illini and Hoosiers in a two-way tie for second.

In the TV production, Northwestern will not have a height disadvantage for the first time this season and may return to its early-season speed style against Michigan. The Wildcats, who knocked off Minnesota for a second time, 66-64, Monday, have the best defensive Big Ten record.

The slick Buckeyes will be heavily favored over Iowa in their next-to-last home game of the season. They are scoring at a record pace of 94 points a game and are hitting 49.8 per cent of all floor shots as they try to become the first unbeaten Big Ten champion since Illinois' Whiz Kids of 1943.

Hebert, Ford Lead In Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—If Jay Hebert continues his putting form and Doug Ford retains his magic touch with the irons, the two old-timers of the tournament trail will be hard to beat in the $22,500 Phoenix Open.

Hebert, of Sanford, Fla., and Ford, Crystal River, Fla., fired 5-under-par 66s Thursday to share the first-round lead in the 72-hole tournament.

Just one stroke back as the second round opened today was Jerry Barber of Los Angeles.

Deadlocked at 68 were the veterans Ken Venturi, San Francisco; Lionel Hebert, Lafayette, La.; Howie Johnson, Meadowlake, Calif.; John Barnum, Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Jack Fleck, Los Angeles.

Ford, the former Masters and PGA champion, said his approach shots were the answer to the tricky 6,585-yard Phoenix Country club course. He posted seven birdies — four of them in a row on the first nine — and two bogies. He was close to the hole all day and his longest birdie putt was 12 feet.

It was a different story for Hebert, who sank birdie putts ranging from 12 to 16 feet.

Hunter, Klein Pace W. Reserve Scorers

Rich Hunter and Matt Klein, both former Salem High School athletes, are currently the two top scorers on the Western Reserve University basketball squad.

Hunter has registered 171 points in nine games for a 19 point per game average. Klein is carrying a 13.8 average with 125 markers for the season.

Hunter is the third leading scorer in the Presidents' Athletic Conference while Klein is 10th. Western Reserve has won one game and lost eight this season.

Truckers Won First Round Title

Herron's Two Wins Away From Title

If there is going to be a Class A playoff in the city basketball league this year, someone is going to have to stop high-flying Herron Transfer.

After sweeping through the first round without tasting defeat, the truckers have mowed down seven straight foes in the second round.

Only two games remain on Herron's schedule. If it handles Foreman's next week, as expected, the league-leaders will assure itself of no worse than a tie for the second half title. Or if Birkhimer's should upset second place Farmers Bank on Wednesday, the race would be all over.

2nd Round Play Opens In Women's Tourney

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Murle Mackenzie and Jo Ann Prentice lead a field of 118 as second round play in the $7,500 St. Petersburg Women's Open Golf Tournament got under way today.

Miss Mackenzie of Pinellas Park, Fla., carded a 69, 2-under par, in the first round Thursday as did Miss Prentice of Birmingham, Ala.

Miss Prentice played with an injured thumb, but the handicap didn't effect her impressive putting or drives on the 6,116-yard Sunset Golf Country Club course.

Royals Coach to Quit

At End of Season

By The Associated Press
The Cincinnati Royals have ended their losing streak at 14 games, one short of the National Basketball Assn. record, but Coach Tom Marshall has had enough.

Marshall announced before Thursday night's 111-108 defeat of the Laker at Minneapolis that he will resign as Cincinnati coach at the end of the season. The Royals are deep in the Western Division cellar, 22 games back of the leading St. Louis Hawks.

Dominican Courts Sentence 41 Men

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Dominican courts have sentenced 41 more men to 30-year prison terms and fined them a total of $1,200,000 for plotting to overthrow the Dominican Republic's 68-year-old dictator, Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo.

All the defendants acknowledged their guilt at two mass trials Thursday, held simultaneously in the Palace of Justice. The convictions boosted to 120 the number of persons handed maximum conspiracy sentences since Trujillo announced smashing a widespread plot last month.

Government officials said more suspects are being questioned and more trials are expected.

There have been reports, denied by the government, that up to 2,000 persons have been rounded up.

The sheriff credited Mrs. Elizabeth Polite and Mrs. Lydia B. Bennett who operate the kitchen and feed an average of 38 to 40 prisoners daily.

Fairfield, Franklin Teams Win Tourney

Junior High School tournament play ended at Fairfield last night with the Fairfield-Waterford 8th graders and the Franklin 7th graders emerging champs.

The Fairfield eighth graders, led by Everett with 13 points, were ahead at all quarter markers in downing United Local, 39-35. J. Cope dropped in 10 points to help the winning cause.

Botaw was high for the losers with 12 points. Also high in the scoring columns were L. Cope of Fairfield and Sturgeon of United with eight points each. Fairfield used 16 boys in taking the victory.

In the 7th grade contest, Franklin's 31 points were nine more than No. 16 school could score. Franklin's T. McGuire hit the hoop for eight points. Right behind McGuire were Costigan and McKarnes with six points each. Wiles was high man for the losers and for the night with 10 points. Archie had six in the losing cause.

At the close of the evening, Burton Anderson, tournament director and principal at Fairfield-Waterford School, presented trophies to the winners.

The award was the largest ever awarded by a Geauga County jury.

Children's Home To Be Inspected

LISEON — Miss Dorothy Held of Canton, district representative of the Ohio Welfare Department, and Paul Baxter of East Liverpool, the state building inspector, will inspect Columbiana County's new children's receiving home in East Palestine at 10 a.m. Monday.

The 13-room dwelling was the boyhood home of Roger Kyes, General Motors executive and former deputy secretary of defense, who deeded it to the county last February as a memorial to his parents, L. M. and Myra E. Kyes.

Alternations have been made to meet state standards, and the Rev. Edward Patzsch and Mrs. Patzsch of Wellsville will begin duties as supervisors Monday. Children will be placed in the home as soon as it passes inspection.

Robert Bycroft of East Palestine, county welfare director, said the home will provide accommodations for a maximum of 10 children. They will be housed in the receiving home until assigned to foster homes.
